Whereas, this first High Point Furniture Market was the culmination of efforts by regional furniture producers and High Point civic leaders, including J.J. Farris, Charles F. Long, and D. Ralph Parker; and

Whereas, the High Point Market has survived the Great Depression, two World Wars, and flourishes today as the premiere international furniture market, and the largest permanent trade show of its kind in the world; and

Whereas, the High Point Market attracts more than 170,000 attendees annually, including many thousands of international visitors, with an economic impact of $1.2 billion to the State; and

Whereas, the High Point Market is the center of the furniture industry cluster in the State, comprised of manufacturers, retailers, showroom owners, furniture designers, interior designers, photographers, and industry publications, with a combined economic impact of $8.94 billion; and

Whereas, the High Point Market should be recognized for 100 years of providing a world showcase for home furnishings and the State of North Carolina itself, and for continuing to be the most significant economic impact event in the State; Now, therefore,
