BILL SUMMARY:

Adds new GS 105-134.6(b)(18) to exempt from taxable income for purposes of the North Carolina income tax compensation that is paid by the armed forces to an individual on active duty. Effective for taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2005.

ASSUMPTIONS AND METHODOLOGY: Under current law, all military pay earned by enlisted personnel, warrant officers, and commissioned warrant officers are exempt from state income tax if the individual is either serving in a combat zone or is hospitalized as a result of serving in a combat zone. A similar exemption is applied to commissioned officers serving in a combat zone or hospitalized as a result of serving in a combat zone. However, the exemption is limited to the highest rate of enlisted pay plus imminent danger/hostile fire pay. As a result, the legislation only impact military personnel who list North Carolina as their state of residence and are not in a combat zone, or those officers whose current exemption is capped. Through a variety of executive orders the President has deemed the following areas combat zones, the equivalent of combat zones, or combat support zones eligible for tax exemption: Persian Gulf, Red Sea, Gulf of Oman, portions of the Arabian Sea, the Gulf of Aden, Bahrain, Iraq, Kuwait, Oman, Qatar, Saudi Arabia, United Arab Emirates, Yugoslavia, Albania, the Adriatic Sea, portions of the Ionian Sea, Afghanistan, Bosnia, Herzegovina, Croatia, Macedonia, Pakistan, Tajikistan, Jordan, Turkey, Kyrgyzstan, Uzbekistan, portions of the Philippines, Yemen, Djibouti, Israel, portions of the Mediterranean Sea, Jordan, and Egypt.

According to the Department of Defense 2003 Atlas/Data Abstract Workforce publication, there were 96,560 active duty military personnel in North Carolina in 2003. Their average pay at that time $35,455. Approximately 47.4% of those individuals are in the Army, 41.7% are Navy and Marine Corp personnel, and the balance are in the Air Force.

According to the Department of Defense Statistical Report of Personnel and Readiness, there are approximately 25,500 military personnel who declare North Carolina as their legal residence in 2001. This number is increased by 10% to 28,050 and is used as a proxy for current levels. The average military pay at North Carolina military installations was $35,455 in 2003. Under federal law, military pay increases are linked to the Bureau of Labor Statistics generated Employment Cost Index (ECI) for civilian employment. Between 2000 and 2006 military pay increases must meet or exceed 1/2 % above the private sector increase for employment costs. After 2006, the increase must match ECI. Historic data from Labor Statistics and forecasts provided by Economy.com suggest the following average salaries for calendar years 2004 – 2010.

Calendar year	Average Pay
2003	35,455
2004	36,529
2005	37,852
2006	39,335
2007	40,685
2008	42,056
2009	43,448
2010	44,882

Previously provided military data suggests that 53% of North Carolina residents that are active duty military are married with an average of two dependents. The remaining 47% are single. For purposes of this analysis, spouses are assumed to earn 80% of the average military pay. No other exemptions or exclusions to state income are considered. Using this data, applying the appropriate federal and state deductions, exemptions, and credits, produces the following calendar year losses.

	2005	2006	2007	2008	2009	2010
Married	51,083,012	53,892,875	56,390,531	58,992,256	61,593,981	64,255,174
Single	28,198,437	29,529,920	30,782,305	32,074,239	33,313,441	34,658,107
Total Loss	79,281,449	83,422,795	87,172,836	91,066,495	94,907,422	98,913,281

The legislation also exempts pay received by Reserve and National Guard members while on active duty. According to the North Carolina Army Reserve and National Guard comptroller, in the most recent fiscal year North Carolina Guard and Reserve soldiers earned $10.67 million in taxable active duty pay. Applying an average personal income tax rate of 7.0% suggests a loss of approximately $750,000 annually.

NOTE: Given the age of the active military estimates, and the current deployment situation, actual impacts could vary significantly.
